Resource Commercial Real Estate becomes Colliers International
*Locally owned commercial real estate firm selected as Colliers International's
Indianapolis-area affiliate*

INDIANAPOLIS – Resource Commercial Real Estate LLC has become Colliers International with today's announced affiliation. The firm will continue to be locally owned and managed by its original five principals and adopt the Colliers International brand, platform and service model.

"We are delighted to join the Colliers family," said Tim O'Brien, president and principal of Resource Commercial Real Estate, now Colliers International, "With this affiliation, our clients gain access to a tremendous array of services, and we can offer clients a much broader network of nationally recognized commercial real estate professionals to assist clients with their property searches and transactions."

According to a recent survey by Lipsey Company, Colliers International is the No. 2 ranked brand in commercial real estate. Colliers was also named as one of the top three real estate firms in the Global Outsourcing 100.

"Our name is changing to Colliers International, but our dedication to providing excellent client service and achieving our clients' commercial real estate goals remains the same," O'Brien said.

Resource's strong reputation for client service, superior knowledge of local and statewide markets as well as the professional caliber of its brokers, made Resource a perfect choice for the Colliers' affiliation.

"Joining Colliers was a terrific cultural and strategic fit for us. We share their similar values and commitment to service quality and training," said Sam Smith, CEO and principal of Resource Commercial Real Estate, now Colliers International. "We were also really impressed with their senior leadership vision, and passion for making Colliers International a global, as well as a local, leader in the eyes of our clients. Clearly their model is working."

The Resource Commercial Real Estate addition follows a series of similar and ongoing announcements that have vastly altered the commercial real estate services landscape. Colliers is the world's second largest commercial real estate services company with more 15,000 employees in 480 offices in 61 countries and revenues approaching $2 billion, according to the National Real Estate Investor List of Top 25 Brokerages Globally. Earlier this year, Colliers International announced that it will combine operations and global real estate services platforms with FirstService Real Estate Advisors.

"Colliers International is moving forward in our campaign to become the market leader in the United States, and the Resource Commercial Real Estate move to our platform marks another step toward securing our status," said Dylan Taylor, chief executive officer of Colliers International in the U.S. "The Resource Commercial Real Estate professionals are well-known throughout the greater Indianapolis marketplace for their commitment to deliver quality services to their clients. With their local knowledge and expertise on our side, Colliers International has strengthened its market position within one of the largest and most important Midwest property markets."

The still privately owned and managed firm adopted the Colliers International name and branding on May 11, 2010. There will be no leadership or personnel changes at the firm.

"When we founded this firm five years ago, we were determined to consistently provide our clients with the highest level of service quality," O'Brien said. "By becoming part of a centrally operated and well-respected firm with a best-in-class services platform, our existing and new clients will immediately benefit from the news."
